CANCER SERVICES OF NORTHEAST INDIANA ♦ MARCH 2021 ♦ VOL 78 ♦ ISSUE 1

Picturing the meaning of life

Last year, three Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana clients participated in a pioneering program that uses photography to help young adults with cancer.

The program, Photographs of Meaning, was developed not only to help with issues such as anxiety, depression, and providing sense of meaning for people undergoing cancer treatment, but also to improve support for this age group. The program is for young adults aged 18 to 39 who are in cancer treatment or have completed cancer treatment within the past year.

Jen Currin-McCulloch, PhD, LMSW, a social work professor at Colorado State University leads the program with Danielle Peterson, MSSA, LCSW, OSW-C, co-facilitating. Danielle teaches social work at the University of Saint Francis, and previously worked as a client advocate at Cancer Services.

Photographs of Meaning

The next session begins April 8, 2021 through May 27, 2021
6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
on Thursdays.

Contact Ann Hathaway at ahathaway@cancer-services.org or 260-484-9560 for more information.

“It uses photography to give folks a better opportunity to connect and share their story,” said Jen. “It allows people a glimpse into their own creative side and what gives their life meaning. It also helps them share a new dimension of themselves and makes it easier to connect. I think it makes it more playful and fun.”

Participants meet virtually to explore different topics. The group is encouraged to share their experiences on issues such as how to live a balanced life when cancer treatments are a huge part of that life.

Jen thinks the format of Photographs of Meaning is appealing for younger people with busy lives. It is eight weekly sessions that last about an hour and a half. “It’s not a forever commitment.”

Each person is asked to post 1 to 3 photographs each week, with a brief description about what the photograph means to them. Participants are also asked to complete several surveys and are encouraged, but not required, to be part of a photo exhibit.

“I always emphasize that you don’t have to be artistic. The quality of the photos does not matter,” Jen said. “No one is being graded or judged.”

Meet the 2020 Photographs of Meaning participants:

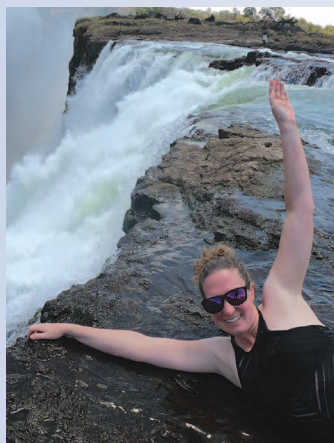

Bekah Patterson

Age 33

Diagnosed with stage IV carcinosarcoma

Bekah recently moved with her husband, 11-year-old son, and their Chihuahua from Indiana to Alabama. She enjoyed an active lifestyle before her diagnosis and has turned to crocheting and painting.

Bekah participated in Photographs of Meaning because she likes photography and was excited to connect with people her age who were also diagnosed with cancer. She built lasting friendships with many of the women in the group. She likes that the photographs she took spoke for themselves and gave her a new way to express herself.

Leanne Noll

Age 36

Diagnosed with metastatic breast cancer at 34 and is now in remission.

Leanne, originally from Cleveland, Ohio, is a biomedical engineer and has lived in Indiana for ten years.

When she was first diagnosed, she felt like her life was taken away and was forced to make too many difficult decisions in a short time. She decided to participate in Photographs of Meaning because COVID-19 forced her to isolate to protect her health. Participating taught her that she was not alone.

She wants to advocate for how important it is to use a program like this to find the positives in life, even when it is tough. For anyone on the fence about participating in the program, she stresses “you only get out what you put in. Being vulnerable can leave you with great outcomes.”

Natalie Welch

Age 36

Diagnosed with stage 1b invasive ductal carcinoma the day before her 35th birthday.

Natalie is a nurse with a 7-year-old daughter, who has been amazing throughout her treatment.

She was initially drawn into Photographs of Meaning by the idea of using photography as a tool for emotional support. It helped her slow down and think through her feelings. She said it was something she looked forward to each week. “It was a healing experience to engage in conversations with other empowering women.”

Thank you

Cancer Services is entirely supported by charitable contributions. Some support comes from local foundations, but it is the individual donors who make the most impact - sending regular checks, buying tickets to fundraising events, and walking to raise money with friends. These gifts come with "no strings attached," which means we are able to fund innovative new programming and balance resources so that people can get what they need when they need it.

When you read this list of amazing donors and wonder if your gift matters, please know that the organization wouldn't exist without it.
