CANCER SERVICES OF NORTHEAST INDIANA ♦ MARCH / APRIL 2016 ♦ VOL 73 ♦ ISSUE 2

Looking for silver linings

Two years ago, Jan McCord was sitting on the couch with her husband, Geoff, watching NCIS on TV when she felt the lump.

"I waited until the next day to say anything to Geoff," she said. "The problem was I didn't have any insurance."

At the time, she and her husband of more than 40 years had downsized and moved back to Garrett to be closer to family after Geoff suffered a stroke. Jan was working as a paralegal in Auburn.

"When the doctor said it looked malignant I went home and I just cried," Jan said.

Jan's breast cancer diagnosis was not the end of the bad news for the McCords. A month later, her doctors also found uterine cancer. Then she lost her job.

Her doctor said there were places that could help and that she should seek them out. One of the first resources he told her about was Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana.

"I had to look for those silver linings. A lot of it is the attitude you choose."

"I was connected with Danielle, my client advocate at Cancer Services, and I found out I qualified for the Indiana Breast Cancer and Cervical Cancer Program," she said. "That was a miracle."

Danielle was able to connect the McCords with lots of help, including oncology massages, items from the warehouse and wigs.

"We had a lot of fun in that wig room," Jan said with a laugh. She had a double mastectomy, a hysterectomy, radiation, chemotherapy and numerous reconstructive surgeries.

"I had top-notch doctors," she said. "Here I am without insurance and I get the best care possible. That's an act of God in itself."

She said with the little bit of savings they had, disability payments, help from the state cancer program and Cancer Services "we were just squeaking through."

Jan McCord in Cancer Services' wig room

"Through the whole process it was a journey of love," Jan said. "But I had to look for those silver linings. A lot of it is the attitude you choose."

When she finished treatment and regained some of her energy, Jan wanted to volunteer.

"I wanted to give back because I was given so much," she said. "I didn't know what I was going to do facing two cancers without any insurance and it worked out. So, I wanted to give hope to others."

Jan has represented Cancer Services at several health fairs, including a recent health fair in Roanoke.

"I talked about Danielle and how great it was to have an advocate. I talked about all the services provided and the great support. I talked about the wig room," she said. "After a couple of hours I was totally whipped, but it was wonderful!"

Ladies of Cobblestone.

It started with a woman who wanted to play golf with her friends and raise money for a good cause.

In 1996, Sandie Fischer organized a benefit golf outing at the Kendallville Elks Golf Course. That first year had 26 golfers and a donation of a little more than $200 to the Susan G. Komen Foundation.

A few years later, the event moved to Cobblestone Golf Course and Pat Treesh, who was a member of the club, asked the ladies to consider another recipient for the money. She read an article about Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana and knew the money would stay in the community to help families touched by cancer.

"We have been so pleased to have Cancer

Services as our beneficiary," said Phyllis Weber, one of the organizers of the 2016 Swing for Cancer Services.

Over the years, the number of golfers participating has grown significantly. So has the amount of money the Cobblestone Ladies Golf Association raises. Last year, they donated $9,551 to help people with cancer.

The 2016 Annual Swing for Cancer Services is June 21 (with a registration deadline of June 10, 2016). Anyone interested in joining the ladies for a morning full of fun and golf is encouraged to call Phyllis Weber at 260-347-1674.

A gift for the helpers

Last week, a kind gentleman stopped in at Cancer Services. He said he wanted to talk with someone about leaving a gift in his will. He explained how much he and his wife appreciated all the many ways their client advocate, Peter, helped them as she was fighting melanoma.

As he shared more about his wife's experience, his intent became clear. Because he knew how much their advocate meant to him and his wife, he wanted to do something that would help the client advocates do their job.

He said he wanted his gift to help the people who helped them.

We spent time talking about the tools and resources available to client advocates as they go about helping families. The access they have to personal health care supplies. The medical equipment they can loan to families caring for a loved one. The system that makes it possible to connect volunteer drivers with people who need a ride to treatment.

If there is a program at Cancer Services that is close to your heart and you would like to know more about how you can support that service, let's talk. After all, Cancer Services was founded by donors, like you, who gave so that no one had to walk the cancer journey alone.

Sincerely,

Dianne May, Executive Director

2016 Design on Life

The Annual Design on Life Spring Auction raised nearly $55,000 to help local families affected by cancer.

APRIL

Supplements: Are They Good or Bad for You?

11 AM to 12:30 PM, Tuesday, April 26, 2016

Presented by Sue Delagrang, MS., RD and Manchester University College of Pharmacy

Many people turn to supplements to ensure they get enough essential nutrients to maintain their health. This educational workshop, which is a partnership between Cancer Services and Manchester University College of Pharmacy, answers the pressing question about what you need to know before you use any dietary supplement. Participants will learn how to gather scientifically sound information about supplements, what to know about drug interactions with supplements and which supplements may be toxic if taken in excess. Our experts will review the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) of vitamins and minerals and discuss the best ways to meet those recommendations.

MAY

The Big "O" and the Big "C": Intimacy and Cancer

1:00 PM to 2:30 PM, Thursday, May 19, 2016

OR

5:30 PM to 7:00 PM, Tuesday, May 24, 2016

Jen Fecher, a knowledgeable educator from Boudoir Noir's School of Loving Arts, will discuss the multitude of ways cancer and cancer treatment can change your body and how you experience intimacy. This educational presentation is for anyone affected by cancer. Jen will share ideas to help you get to know your body again and bring intimacy back into your life. The format allows participants to comfortably ask sensitive questions.

2016 LAPPER and Survivors Day Celebration!

Saturday, May 14
at Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana

The Lapper is a fundraising walk benefiting Cancer Services. All the money raised stays in our community.

Please join a team or form a team and raise money to help people with cancer.

After the walk, stay for the Survivors Day Celebration. There will be food, games, music and entertainment for the entire family!

Register at www.lapper2016.kintera.org.

Everyone who raises a minimum of $25 by May 1 can receive a commemorative t-shirt.

Contact Noni Hoham at 260-484-9560
or nhoham@cancer-services.org for more information.

You're invited!
