Client Heads Up Donation Drive and Collects 31 Wigs for Clients

Debra Brown, current client and volunteer at Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana, spearheaded an effort that secured 31 wigs for Cancer Services' wig salon. Debra came to CSNI to select a wig for herself and was surprised to discover that there were limited options for African American women. With the approval of Cancer Services, she took the initiative and began a donation campaign to collect as many wigs as she could. Debra hopes to eventually donate 100 wigs.

Anyone interested in donating a wig to CSNI's wig salon may contact Gail Hamm at gamm@cancer-services.org. All donated wigs will be cleaned and styled by volunteers before they are distributed to clients.
