Assistant Program Director Tina Roy earns new certification

(February 25, 2013) Tina Roy, Assistant Program Director and Children's Advocate for Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana, recently received her certification as an Oncology Social Worker-Certified (OSW-C). This process required extensive documentation of education, training, professional affiliations, community, and professional involvement, and day-to-day work responsibilities with oncology patients. As a member of the Association of Oncology Social Workers, Tina joins CSNI's program director Gail Hamm, LCSW, OSW-C in a commitment to advance excellence in the psychosocial care of people with cancer, their families and caregivers.

In her role as Assistant Program Director, Tina is responsible for complementary programs, client education programs, building community partnerships, and community support groups.

Dianne May, President and CEO, says, "This certification is one more example of Cancer Services' commitment to high quality programs and services for all people with cancer in our region."

About Cancer Services of Northeast Indiana

Cancer Services' mission is to enhance the quality of life of those affected by cancer by providing meaningful resources, information and compassionate assistance. Last year, more than 2,500 local people with cancer and their families received emotional support and practical resources for their cancer journey.
